Draught proofing details of a timber sash window

Timber sliding sash windows include lead weights, cords and brass roller pulleys and have traditional service pockets for maintenance of the cords and weights.

The most traditional construction, gives a smooth operation, and will satisfy the most demanding conservation requirements. Factory glazing is recommended, and that enables an accurate calculation of the counter balance weight required for the sash.

Cill and glazing bar options are available on this vertical sliding window, which can also be supplied with sash horns.
